

Name

Date

Biology: Chapter 5

Inside a seed is a tiny plant called an embryo.

Germination begins when there is enough water to swell and break the outer seed coat.

Gravity tells the plant which way is up and down.

Plants require minerals to develop.